

Hart Russell

Hw3

I formatted my C program's output to be similar to the ibv program, so we could make an apples to apples comparison. As we can see from this data, if my calculations were done correctly.... My ping pong program was faster than the ibv program. However, the speedup with increasing iterations shows a pretty linear speedup between both programs. Perhaps the mpi program is just more efficient than whatever the ibv program is doing.